

Electric Service Inspection

Utility companies require an inspector's sign off on the electrical service prior to service hook-up. Each utility company has their own form. When the service is ready for inspection, the electrician should complete the certificate in its entirety and leave it in the meter box. Once the certificate is in the meter box, the electrician may call for an inspection. Upon completion of an approved service inspection, the inspector will process the certificate in the manner dictated by the utility company. Please do not fax or email the certificate to our office. It must be left on site.
